DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This is in response to amendment received on 09/07/05. Claims 1-9 were cancelled and claims 10-17 were newly added. Claims 10-17 are examined below.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 11-16 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species of the invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 09/07/05.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 13 is objected to because of the following informalities: there are two claim 13 in the case. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 10 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stein (US 4,280,229) in view of Rosenberg (US 6,062,946).

In regard to claim 10, Stein teaches an article of apparel to be used with trousers worn low on the hips (figures 1 and 2). A panel of flexible material (11) substantially forming an extension band of sufficient width to encircle and cover a wearer's midriff. A waistband formed of elastic material formed along the first open end for engaging a wearer's waist (column 1, lines 48-55). A trouser attachment element located at the second open end and disposed to engage the trousers worn low on a wearer's hips so as to prevent disengagement of the trousers from the hips (column 2, lines 38-57). The band extends below a user's midriff (figures 1 and 2).

However, Stein fails to teach the waistband having a first open end and a second open end spaced from the first open end.

Rosenberg teaches a band having a first open end and a second open end that encircles the waist and covers the wearer's midriff and lower abdomen (figures 5-7).

In regard to claim 17, Rosenberg teaches the panel of flexible material including a fastener extending between the first open end and the second open end so that the band is formed when the slide fastener is joined (figures 5-7).

However, Rosenberg fails to teach the fastener being a slide fastener.

It would have been obvious to have provided the fastener being a slide fastener of hook and catch fasteners because as long as a fastener is provided to close the band around a user's midriff the type of fastener can be chosen by any equivalent and interchangeable fastener well known in the apparel arts including hook and catch or slide fasteners.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 10 and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

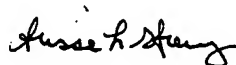

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
